The ITL takes up residence in the Library

The ITL has moved from the Carslaw Building.

On 2 April 2014, the ITL moved into new accommodation in the Fisher Library. Our new address is: Level 2 South, Fisher Library, F03, but our email addresses and phone numbers remain the same.

We are sharing space (in what was formerly the stacks) with the Learning Centre and the Maths Learning Centre. Access to all three units is via the level 2 equivalent of the main entrance area, or via the ‘stacks’ stairs. The co-location is anticipated to lead to an enhanced understanding of teaching and learning at Sydney University, synergy in research, and greater collaboration between units within the DVC Education portfolio on issues of strategic significance.

Some of our meetings and seminars will be held in this new space, but if you would like to visit us there is no need to wait for a meeting invitation. You are welcome to drop in when you are next near to the Fisher Library.
