Presentation on definitions of student success

Student Support Services and CAPS invites you to an interactive presentation from Dr Tricia Seifert, University of Toronto on Definitions of Student Success: findings from the international student success study. The session will present Canadian research on the top definitions of student success from a range of stakeholders - academics, faculty staff, professionals and students. The presentation will cover implications of findings showing that there is more to success than retention and graduation, and outline efforts to align university-wide practices to student success outcomes. Visit this website for additional information about the study.

Date: Monday 1st December, 2014
Time: 1.00pm - 4.00pm
Venue: Veterinary Science Conference Centre B22, Camperdown campus

To secure your place at the presentation, please email Lauris de Clifford or phone (02) 8627 8453.
