Melbourne is definitely the town for higher education learning and teaching research activity in 2015. In July, it plays host to the Higher Education Research and Development Society of Australasia (HERDSA) conference, and in October, to the International Society for the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (ISSoTL) conference. Both events are not to be missed, and there is still time to develop your submission/proposal/abstract to present at both conferences.

Information about submitting your work to the HERDSA conference is available at the website. Make sure you pencil in the closing date February 15. Information about the ISSoTL conference is now also available at their website. You have until April 24 to get your submissions in on time.
