The Student Leadership Conference (SLC) is designed to encourage university students to develop and equip themselves to become future leaders. Originated from a campus event, organized by students, the conference evolved into an international conference since 2004.

Objectives of SLC
- To develop the quality and leadership skills of university students
- To widen students’ horizon about global development
- To strengthen the linkage among university students, and
- To encourage whole person development

The SLC 2009 aims particularly to help participants gain an insight into the relation of university education and employability, to equip them for future challenges and to develop their communication and leadership skills.

Program Highlights
- Forums: Themes related to university education and employability were explored, raising awareness of university students towards the transition from campus to workplace.
- Cultural Tour: Participants explored and appreciated the unique cultural heritage of Hong Kong.
- Leader-Sharing Dinner: Leaders in local community were invited to give participants opportunities to communicate face to face during dinner and shared their valuable experiences.
- Company Visits: Participants visited Philips, Cyberport, Hong Kong Exchange and Clearing Limited and PCCW exploring local working environment and gaining knowledge towards the workplace.
